Superintendent Announces Winner of 2017-18 Day One Volunteer Competition

Clayton County Public Schools is off to an exciting start to achieving higher levels of performance! On behalf of the Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Morcease J. Beasley, we would like to congratulate everyone on a successful opening of the 2017-18 School Year. As district leadership visited campuses throughout the school system on Day One, we were thrilled to see the amount of effort from faculties and staff as well as the support from various volunteers that were present to welcome back our scholars.

We challenged every school administrator to join in the efforts of working in collaboration with the community to participate in our district-wide Day One Volunteer Competition. We are pleased to announce that 932 volunteers including members of various Faith-Based entities, Business, Civic and Community Leaders, and a variety of Elected Officials greeted students on the first day of school. We thank all stakeholders and volunteers for adjusting their schedules to support our staff and students to ensure a smooth start to the school day and year.

As we appreciate and applaud the efforts made by all school administrators to make sure volunteers were on campus to greet parents, guardians, and students as they arrived, we are extremely proud of North Clayton Middle School (NCMS). Please join us in congratulating North Clayton Middle School as the top winner of the 2017-18 Day One Volunteer Competition with 113 volunteers! As an overall winner with the highest number of volunteers, NCMS will receive a $100.00 incentive from the school district to use towards a school-based teacher or student appreciation program during the 2017-18 school year.

Thank you for all your support. We encourage all schools to continue to promote stakeholder engagement throughout the school year and beyond to support our mission— Committed to High Performance, and being the highest achieving school district in the nation! Congratulations NCMS!
